Hallelujah!
Hallelujah!
Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah!

Hail the Devil!
Hail the Devil!
Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah!

For the Big Blue Devil of Duke reigneth ...
Forever, and ever--
Hallelujah, hallelujah!

For the Devil of Duke is our Savior ...
Tomorrow
And always Hallelujah, Hallelujah!

The victory of this game is become
The victory of our faith
And of our hope
And of our love!

And Duke shall beat Virginia tomorrow!

Dear old Duke!
Tomorrow, tomorrow
Hallelujah, hallelujah!

And poor Virginia!
Poor Virginia, poor Virginia!
Hallelujah, hallelujah!

Hail to Duke--and woe to Virginia

For Duke shall be victorious tomorrow

Oh hail to thee!

Oh, I wish I was in the land of cotton,
Old times there are not forgotten--
Look away! Look away! Look away, Dixieland!

In Dixieland where I was born,
Early on a frosty morn,
Look away! Look away! Look away, Dixieland

Then I wish I was in Dixie!, away, away!
In Dixieland I'll take my stand
To live and die in Dixie.
Away, away away down South in Dixie,
Away, away, away down South in Dixie!

Art is not embodied in its medium. In its purest form, it is the triumph of an emotive force over the restrictions imposed upon it by its necessary transduction from representations of spiritual to spatio-temporal reality. The medium may be seen as a hedge, the artistic spirit as a wind, and the artistic act the permeating and surpassing of the former by the latter. The artist uses a medium to externalize an emotional concept, which arrives full-born upon the material of his medium. The medium is not the message.

It is with this in mind that I offer your men and the State Highway Patrol our most sincere commendation. Because of the proficiency of these two groups and the good will of the great majority of the students, order was quickly restored and both your men and the patrolmen were withdrawn within less than three hours. National guard troops which were on stand-by were never needed.

As I see it now, no useful purpose would be served at this time in my attempt to explain what sparked the conflict between the police and our students. I received your message that the use of tear gas was ordered only after two of your men had been assaulted with objects capable of causing injury or death. I accept your word and respect your judgment in this matter. . . .

BILL GRIFFITH : THE MAN IN THE MIDDLE

It is a november.
Rain dreers upon longfallen leaves, remooding a languid land. Impressively stone buildings shaft light from their windows, trying to stave the darkness and fears; a drowning man, armed with gestures. When all the upcollared, over coated walkingshapes contemplate their onlies, as feeling is collapsed inside a shattered pumpkinshell, brittle in moistureless frost, winter appears as summer's blotter. Now, cruel as ignoring, we are kind in relation to our inspirations. After all our introspection after all the individuals, our conversations of private wars and personal explanations; it is november, infinite november.

Having forgotten to memorize childhood, our bent heads mourn freedom's death.
It was only an idea.

Dreams to plans decompose:
alpine cabins to corvettes as from bed to desk we walk accepting the shortest path to loneliness.
An inherent sense of adversion has replaced uncomfortable stares and escaped smiles.
There are few collisions.

Moths toward lightbulbs, mismated, an obscure sense of security (as if it were gravity) plumbs us across four years of quads, leaving our trails grassless, our wallcracks postered over;
    our lives, a future
decided by handshakes.

Peace will come to our country, and the violence will end, only when our leaders realize no human being possesses, or can delegate , the authority to take the lives of others. They demonstrate their ignorance of this basic tenet by their continued destruction of Viet Nam, and the ongoing use of violence to quell dissent of various types. When they begin to show some realization of the equality of mankind, perhaps their citizenry can begin to profess the same fact.

Capping! the perennial ceremony so unique to the nursing school. We have the best start to a new year of anyone on campus through this milestone. Our own Dr. Cleland (yes, he's an honorary nurse) delivers a message serving as an inspiration to carry us through this year and many to come.

Now the work begins! Yet our education is different, not wholly "book-learning," but an education in life, in all its stark reality. The theme running throughout our nursing practice is that we cannot care for a patient unless we care about him. This "person-centered" orientation carries over into our extra-curricular life at Duke and our relations with guys and gals from West and East. A statement by Sister Clement sums up our aim, whether it be in OB-peds or med-surg, psych or public health "In contacts with death and suffering, we learn to disregard beauty, standing, wit, intelligence and all those assets that people have. The dying have nothing; they tenuously are. And it is what they are that we fight to keep."

Inactive?! Apathetic?! Not the nurses in Hanes House! Involved in activities from ASDU to cheerleading, from Symposium to Nereidians, they are an integral part of the Duke scene. Like the rest of the University the School of Nursing has a new curriculum, although ours began this year. Two years of all liberal arts seems a long time for the freshmen to wait for their cap, yet it will then take on a unique meaning for them. This cap is the beginning and an ever-present reminder of what our years at Duke mean.

The cap's symbolic values differ
For each who puts it on,
For many it is the beauty
Of a new life's breaking dawn.

It has been a year of considerable activity for the Engineer's Student Government. Like several other governmental organizations on campus, ESG has spent some time in evaluation of its role in the life of the University. And true to the pragmatic nature of engineers, its members have felt that a student government should in the final analysis be judged on its performance; on just exactly what it accomplishes with the time and with the resources available to it. Accordingly, ESG has directed its efforts first of all into projects of service to the School of Engineering, and secondly into improving communication between the School of Engineering and the rest of the University. In both areas, according to President Ethan Grossman, "ESG is after solutions and results, not publicity."

The projects of ESG within the School of Engineering run the gamut from the social to the academic; from the seemingly mundane to those of far-reaching significance. In all these areas ESG has found that its small size and informal atmosphere have been of great benefit in getting things done with speed and efficiency. Probably one of the more "non-political" student governments on campus, ESG has also benefitted from the inclusion of graduate student, faculty, and administrative representatives on its Executive Council. In several projects, ESG has also found an effective method to be that of offering to match funds with the University in order to obtain some desired objective. This evidence of ESG's willingness to back up its requests with cash has resulted in much more expiditious treatment of these requests by the various other University authorities involved.

Some representative projects undertaken by ESG this year include:

1. The organization of a Freshman Engineering Society for the professional, academic, and social benefit of the freshmen engineers.

2. The development of a computerized teaching evaluation form to be distributed each semester in all engineering courses, with the results to be provided to each professor so that he might ascertain his own strengths and weaknesses in teaching.

3. An informal "Feedback Seminar" where students and professors informally talk over courses just completed and how these could have been improved.

4. A "Bridge-the-Gap" Film Series to help acquaint interested members of the rest of the University community with some of the interesting things currently going on in the engineering world.

5. The publishing of a study on a five-year program upon completion of which the student would receive the BSE and Master of Science degrees in Engineering, and participation in evaluation of this and other proposed curricula together with the Engineering faculty and administration.

6. The publishing of a bi-weekly Newsletter to keep the Engineering School informed on the activities of ESG.

Thus, Air Force ROTC offers the student instruction and experience in areas which will in many ways be valuable in later life.

The Arnold Air Society is fundamentally a service-honorary organization within the Air Force ROTC program. It provides a means of distinguishing deserving cadets, performing worthwhile service projects, and generally furthering the goals of Air Force ROTC.

Among the William A. Sally Squadron's notable achievements this year have been the formation of an Angel Flight, a group of coeds who support and complement the Arnold Air Society and the Corps in many ways; the instruction of Civil Air Patrol cadets from the Durham community in pertinent topics; and a tutoring program.

The Arnold Air Society is an integral part of the Corps which anticipates an even more active future.

Air Force ROTC plays a nationally significant role in providing the Air Force with junior officers. In helping to accomplish this task, the detachment at Duke is involved in a variety of activities — academic and social, as well as military.

The program is based on a curriculum of academic and drill instruction which is continued over the four year period of undergraduate study. While a cadet receives no credit for drill instruction or the first two years of academics, he does receive credit for the last two years, during which he studies such subjects as management and the history of air power.

Some of the functions which rounded out this year included an annual beer-blast, a traditional dining-in, and intramural competition with the Navy ROTC, all of which were climaxed by a military ball. In addition, the Corps has worked hard to form a Pipe and Drum Band which enhances the detachment's participation in parades.

Naval R.O.T.C.

The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps was founded in 1926 and came to Duke in 1941, when it was expanded to help meet War demands. At Duke approximately 175 Midshipmen participate in one of three NROTC programs: the Regular Program, whose students receive tuition, books, fees and a monthly retainer sum, take part in three summer training cruises, and obligate themselves for four years' service as a commissioned Naval officer; the Four-Year Contract Program, whose students receive only the monthly sum, take part in two summer cruises, and are obligated for three years' service; and the Two-Year Contract Program, which resembles the Four-Year except that only one cruise is required. Each Midshipman is enrolled in a three-hour Naval Science course each semester and gives two additional hours per week for drill and laboratory instruction. NROTC's goals are many, but may be said in the briefest sense to be to prepare the Midshipman for service with the highest sense of honor and integrity as a commissioned officer; to cultivate the essential elements of military leadership; and to foster the growth of a strong sense of loyalty and dedication to his Service and to the Nation.

FOOTBALL . . . A "building" season for a collegiate football team usually generates all of the excitement and pleasure of a good case of the trots. A coach's announcement that "this year we have a young team, but with a little work next year . . ." is greeted with a simultaneous decline in alumni support and in attendance and with a rise in the number of bottles of Southern Comfort brought into the stadium. For the Blue Devils, however, this was indeed a building season, and a good one, at that. The forward pass, and its potential were realized. Records fell as sophomore quarterback, Leo Hart, passed to Marcel Courtillet, Wes Chesson and Henly Carter. From a 1968 team with a losing record should rise a team harking back to the days of Blue Devil gridiron magnificence.

The season opened on a high note with a win over South Carolina. The Blue Devils drew first blood as Chesson carried the ball over from the five yard line for the score. In the second quarter Hart, foreshadowing a combination that was to work excellently for Duke, passed to Henly Carter for another tally. South Carolina scored, and the half ended 14-7. The third quarter was scoreless. In the fourth quarter Phil Singer recovered a crucial fumble, and Leo Hart ran out the clock to give the Devils a 14-7 victory.

In the next contest, although it was a defeat, the team showed the promise of a strong passing attack. Against Michigan Courtillet broke the ACC receiving record. A few hard breaks and the running of Michigan's Johnson contributed to a closer game than the 31-10 final read.

In the Devil's third contest, Maryland was looking for its first win. Sophomore Phil Asack broke the game open with an electrifying 60 yard run. As he broke into the secondary he recalls, "I just picked one of the safety men and ran him down. I though my feet were going to turn to cement." Maryland recapitulated, however, and with less than five seconds remaining was leading 28-27. Pugh came in and kicked a field goal, and the final score read 30-27. It was a costly victory evenso, for Courtillet injured his knee and was to miss most of the season.

Homecoming usually spells disaster for Duke, and in 1968 the jinx once again proved true. Wes Chesson broke Courtillet's receiving record, but there was little else to cheer about for Frank Quayle and the Cavaliers dominated the afternoon.

The Clemson game was another disappointment for the Devils. The score was 7-6 late in the third period before a scoring flurry occurred with Duke on the shorter end of a 39-22 score. Continuing in the tradition of record breaking, Carter surpassed the reception work of Chesson. The Duke offense was potent as they gained more yards against Clemson down in "Death Valley" than any other team in history. Their inability to score and to check the Clemson offense, however, caused their defeat.

Duke then traveled to West Point to take on the Black Knights of the Hudson. A few bad breaks, including a 95 yard interception return, put the Devils out of the game. Again the Blue Devil defense proved potent as they gained more yards against the Cadets at West Point than any team in history, but that didn't help the 57-25 final score of an Army victory.

Before the Georgia Tech game, the team called a meeting. Emphasizing pride, particularly defensive, the Devils faced a tough Georgia Tech squad. A new secondary performed admirably with Dick Biddle and Dave Trice snaring interceptions. Asack and Don Baglien ran well, and Duke marched to an impressive 46-30 victory before 25,000 fans.

There were a lot of loyal fans braving the rains and near freezing temperatures to watch the Devils battle a great North Carolina State team. The game was worth the discomfort. A fumble on the goal, a missed play and the inability to score contributed to the Devils' 16-15 loss. N.C. State was a great team, however, and Duke proved that it could play with the best.

Against Wake Forest Leo Hart proved that he was the best quarterback in the ACC. A stubborn Blue Devil defense stopped the Deacons' fine offense led by Freddie Summers. To start the second half, Hart faded back and launched a 50-yard bomb to Chesson, who ran to pay dirt on an 81 yard scoring strike. A balanced offensive and defensive effort gave the Devils an 18-3 win.

The Duke-Carolina game revives college memories and spirits that have all but died. The school starts thinking about the game. Alumni return with their baskets and bottles. Sports announcers compare the teams' records and finish their weary job with, "Well, whenever these great teams get together, you can throw away the record books." The bookies had Duke pegged as a two-touchdown favorite going into the game. Before 44,500 fans at Chapel Hill, Duke was behind 13-0 early in the contest, and could never regain its loss. The only climax of the game for Duke fans was Wes Chesson's run, following a pass from junior quarterback Dave Trice.

As much as the 1968 season ended on a low note, the team does show a lot of potential. Sophomore Leo Hart was sixth in the nation in total offense, gaining over 2,300 yards. Phil Asack at fullback gained almost 700 yards. Dick Biddle promises to continue the tradition of strong Duke linebackers. The 1968 campaign, recording a dismal 4-6 record, should be viewed as an excellent building season. With offensive and defensive leaders returning, the 1969 Blue Devil football team should provide welcome relief from the mediocre teams of the last few seasons.

Minor sports at Duke function largely without scholarships or audiences. It is in these sports, however, that the heart of the student body beats. The men participating in these unglorified athletics are not striving for professional careers but for the pleasure of competition. It is this spirit that portrays the athlete at his best.

TRACK . . . In 1968 varsity track had an excellent season of five wins against two defeats. The story of track, however, was more a story of three men.

Clint Brown won the pole vault with a good vault of 13′6″ at the WTVD State Intercollegiates. Ed Stenberg continued his career in long distance running by finishing first seven times. His 1968 season was climaxed by a win in the 5000 meter run at Jefferson, Georgia in the Southeastern Championships.

Duke's mainstay is Jeff Howser, who may be Duke's best Olympic prospect since Dave Sime, silver medalist in Rome in 1960. Howser was chosen as the outstanding athlete at the Carolina State-Record relays and set new meet records in three contests.

Coach Al Buelher and the team can be proud of their fine record in 1968.

SOCCER . . . Soccer at Duke is a sport of growing prestige. Today, the man or the grad knows that there is a soccer team, although he may never have seen a game and would be hard pressed to name its season.

Captained by Ken Heckert and coached by Roj Skinner, the 1968 soccer team enjoyed a 6-4 record. Team scoring was led by a pair of sophomores, Doug Morris and Craig Tymeson, who collected 25 goals. The season held more excitement than the overall record shows. Against National Champion Maryland, the Booters were down only two goals going into the last period. Although they lost that game, the team gained the impetus to edge NCAA play-off bound UNC in the season's final. With growing enthusiasm, the soccer team looks forward to the 1969 campaign.

WRESTLING . . . The 1968 Duke wrestling team enjoyed a good year. A 6-5-1 record sported wins over Davidson, State, East Carolina, Elon, UNC and Georgia Tech. In a team comprised of many strong individuals, heavyweight Art Morgan won the outstanding wrestler trophy. Bob van Asselt lengthened his winning streak to 16 straight. The '68 grapplers made a fine showing in the ACC Tourney with Morgan and O'Bryn finishing second and with Jordan and Dubuar finishing third. Freshmen Newton, Donavan and John Kimball lent strength to the team and create high prospects for the 1969 season.

FENCING . . . While no one at Duke has ever admitted to seeing a Duke fencing match, Coach John Le Bar's Errol Flynns can boast of never having a losing season. The 1968 version of the team led by Captain John Melville compiled an even record of 6-6 against some very strong competition ranging from Vanderbilt to Ohio State.

The high points of the season came in the State and NCAA Championships. Ryan Dybdahl finished third in the state and twenty-fourth in the NCAA in the epee division, while John Melville finished twenty-second at the NCAA in the sabre division.

The prospects for 1969 look very promising with virtually all members of the 1968 team returning. Maybe some day soon students might wander into the gym and stay to watch a fencing match.

LACROSSE . . . The 1968 lacrosse team led by Captains Malc Travelstead and Phil Snead faced the toughest schedule of the young club's career. Coaches Skinner and Corrie, trying to rebuild a club that won the National Championships in 1951, played powerhouses Cornell and Air Force early in the year. While these meetings did not produce victories, they did give the young club valuable experience. The experience showed later in the season as the team won three of their last five games, helping them to fashion a 4-7 season.

The 1968 season was mainly a building year with the team losing very few of its big personnel. The 1969 team's future looks bright under the leadership of last year's MVP Chuck Clark and high scoring forward Steve Sachs. Also returning on the front line will be Fred Ramsey along with midfield starter Jeff Board and defensemen Penn Croom, Dennis Cassidy and Ken Bombard.

GOLF . . . Entering his 36th year as golf coach, "Dumpy" Hagler looked expectantly to the season ahead. "We believe in winning and this group should win a lot." He should sound optimistic with fine seasoned lettermen returning, led by low-qualifying Captain Sandy Dillon. Coach Hagler stresses team work in this "individual" game and helps generate strong team spirit.

"Last year's record of 5-5 was not indicative of how good we were. This year my boys are working hard to show we can play with the best." His boys include John French, two time National Amateur Qualifier, Bob Martin, Ben Semple, Roddy Ingold, John Hochl and Hank Walters.

SWIMMING . . . In 1968 there was a new scene around the Duke pool. The team was working out together. The boys practiced until they hurt. There were pep talks, and this new quality carried over into the meets. The team was winning; five wins for a team that had won only two meets in two years. A new sound filled the pool, cheering from the balcony. Frosh Steve Morgan and Bill Pritchard set pool records. Wally Schmidt commanded the middle distance. Captain Tom Powers and Gary Duncan consistently finished 1-2 in the breast stroke. With a full team returning, hopes run high for the 1969 season. The 1968 team gave new life to a dying sport at Duke. With good coaching, this is a young team that will bring a renewed spirit to Duke.

BASEBALL . . . Following the death of long time Duke baseball coach Jim Bly and prior to the season, new coach Tom Butters led the 1968 Duke baseball team to a somewhat respectable 12-19 season. After two early losses in Durham, the team left for Florida where they compiled an encouraging 4-3 record. Upon returning to Durham they began playing some promising but sporadic games for the rest of the season, finishing with a disappointing sixth in the ACC.

The team was led through the season by the big bats of Tim Teer, Randy Blanchard and Captain Larry Davis, all second team ACC selections. Teer and Blanchard will return for 1969 and will be joined by freshmen Rick Searl and John Kiefer in the batting cage. The pitching staff, led by Phil Wilheim and grid star Leo Hart, will be joined by strong armed freshman Allen Schwartz. Coach Butters should improve his team's record in his second year and develop a team which should at least rival the old Durham Bulls for excitement.

TENNIS . . . Tennis attracts as much as any other minor sport at Duke. Whether this is because of the courts' proximity to the parking lots or to the success of "I Spy" or to genuine interest in the game is debatable. The crowds, however, are appreciative and do seem to grasp the object, if not the art, of the game.

The 1968 team brought a winning season to Duke with a 10-9 record. Coach Robert Cox's team faces the dual problem of a lack of scholarships and the inclement Durham weather which prevents year-round practice. Captained by Bruce Mahler, the only senior on the team, Duke's season can be counted as a fine one. Prospects are higher for the 1969 season with returning lettermen Chuck Saache, Charlie Meek and Tom Farguher.

BASKETBALL . . . Perplexing is the word for the 1968-69 basketball team. At times the Devils played as well as any team in the South; at other times it looked as though Coach Bubas had walked down the main quad with a basket of sneakers and uniforms asking if anyone wanted to play basketball. It is hard to pinpoint any one fault with this team. Certainly its lack of experience contributed heavily to its shortcomings. Duke's 15-13 won-loss record is not a poor showing by any means, particularly a very tough Atlantic Coast Conference. Like the football team, the basketball team had a building year. Sophomores Dick DeVenzio, Randy Denton, Rick Katherman, and Brad Evans will return as the nucleus of next year's squad.

The season's opener provided a pleasant surprise for the Blue Devil fans. Senior Fred Lind proved that his outstanding performance against North Carolina last year was no fluke, as he garnered 20 points against Virginia Tech in an 87-76 victory. Against Alabama, Denton took command, scoring 17 points. Duke played an aggressive game, holding the more pink than Crimson Tide to only 16 field goals in an 86-48 romp. Princeton fell next as the Blue Devils made it three in a row with an 81-62 contest. The press began to include the Devils in the national rankings, and Duke became a serious contender in the ACC race.

Then the bottom fell out. Duke began a losing streak that extended to four games, the longest in Coach Vic Bubas' career with the Devils. Michigan, Virginia, East Tennessee, and Wake Forest beat Duke. With a 3-4 record going into Christmas vacation the outlook was depressing. But as suddenly as the streak began, the Devils snapped it. Rick Katherman scored 18 points in a 96-70 win over Clemson.

The team then invaded New Orleans for the Sugar Bowl Tournament. In the first round Duke edged a stubborn Western Kentucky team 73-72 as Denton dominated the boards and scored 18 points. The following night, the Devils emerged as the Sugar Bowl Champions by defeating Iowa 85-82. In that effort Denton again led the way, this time with 25 points, and was hailed as the outstanding player of the tournament.

Back into regular season play the Devils took on highly touted UNC. Despite Katherman and Lind's 17 points apiece, the team ended up on the short side of a 94-70 score. Wake Forest then fell 85-81. Denton made 14 of 19 shots from the floor to lead in a victory over Maryland.

Then the youthful team began to falter again. Despite Denton's 30 points North Carolina State defeated Duke 77-74. Temple and South Carolina set back the Devils. The team rallied to defeat Clemson 85-76. But Duke was again the victim of Frank McGuire's boys as South Carolina got the upper hand 82-72. After defeating Maryland, the Devils had their season's high scoring game against Wake Forest. Duke scored 61 points in each half to humiliate the Deacons 122-93.

Lind gave a 21 point effort in a heartbreaking loss to West Virginia. Duke next beat Virginia 100-81 with Rick Katherman leading the way with 23 points. The team then travelled to meet nationally ranked Davidson. Randy Denton controlled the boards with 25 rebounds and DeVenzio provided 28 points in a contest that was 80-80 at the end of the second half. In overtime, however, the Devils were held scoreless. Despite the loss the team clearly showed their potential. After a setback at the hands of State, Duke moved into their final home game against UNC. Before 8,800 wildly enthusiastic fans the Blue Devils played the best game of the season in defeating the Tar Heels 87-81. Senior Steve Vandenberg took the scoring honors with 33 points.

Duke then moved to the Charlotte Coliseum for the annual Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament. In the opening round the Blue Devils soundly defeated Virginia 99-86 with Vandenberg and DeVenzio each contributing 24 points. In the semi-final round of the tourney, the team had to meet South Carolina. Undaunted by two previous defeats at the hands of this team, Duke went into the game with a confident attitude. Dave Golden hit eight shots in a row in the second half to lead in a 68-59 victory. In the finals, Duke went against UNC for the third time. The 85-74 in the Carolina victory was misleading. The Devils were up by nine at the half. With 17:18 remaining they were leading by 11. Then Charlie Scott, UNC's All-American took over, and the curtain fell for the 1968-69 season.

All in all, it was a good year for Duke basketball. The record is no indication of how Vic Bubas took his inexperienced team and coached them to the finals of the ACC Tournament. Three starting sophomores, returning from the team that was the Sugar Bowl Champion and the ACC runnerup, promise a return of excellent basketball to Duke.

In the lives of all men comes the moment when a job has been completed and it is time to move to new and even greater challenges. When that moment arrives, it is difficult to leave, for the challenges of the past are not easily forgotten. But when a job becomes an accomplishment, the greatest emotion is to know it has been done well and that pride can be felt. A man is thanked for what he does for others and he is remembered for the jobs he has done well. We would like to express our gratitude for what you have given us and our assurance that the name of Vic Rubas will long be remembered.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Taus more or less returned to Duke College after bountiful summers for all. As usual, the fall brought in a new nemesis and friend—Jim; Jim was welcomed with open arms and mixed right in. The Taus led this year's Blue Devils with a host of outstanding members, including Goober, Sponge, Zirkon, Ken, Cap, Bob, Mickey Mouse, Fitz, Mar, Fast, Rug, Gat, Pug, Whale, Laundry, Fuge, Bear, and L. G. The IM football team made its usual strong showing; IM basketball, however, was delayed due to technical difficulties. The Taus rose with the ADPi's for Homecoming, only to have their heads fall off. Greek, Crazy, and Rug rode the horn on special occasions with a touch of El Chico, over-the-hump achieved overall acceptance, and Juking emerged as the fraternal pastime. The Mexican Taus went whoring with the Kappas who found the pinata filled with assorted goodies. The crack-troops of ATO came out in force as the Filthy Forty raided East Campus after commandeering one of the peasant buses. Even though continually harassed by guerrilla tactics on the part of the campus cops, the invitations were delivered and the Combat Party was a great victory. ATO's and the Zeta's journeyed to the cerebral palsy home for a visit before Christmas. After formal initiation of new Little Sisters, everyone went grubby to a picnic at which the Powder-Puff Twenty soundly defeated a Tau team high with spirits, faking Crazy out of his pants. The Taus also saluted the Little Sisters with a celebration of the New Year. Second semester brings more events to be looked forward to. Supe, Artie, Phantom, Bird, and Squawk hold up lacrosse; Arms and Wild Bill lead the baseball team; and Cincy, Smittie, Handles, and the missing R will handle the golf balls. Taus eagerly look forward to Joe College, Beach Weekends, the cliffs, and especially to Sweetheart Ball on the riverboat. These events will close another surely vintage year for ATO.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Delts returned early this year to redecorate our chapter room and build a huge brown and gold outdoor sign. A 1000-pound heifer was obtained, a corral was built, and it began to look western. It even began to smell western when Delta Bull moved into the basement head. The rest of the Weekend was in the dark. Highlights of the semester were an election night talk-in, a champagne zoo, Delt's best charity drive effort, Homecoming display award, and a C team which compared favorably to Bubasball. Delts now awaiting to defend Joe College drinking title to make it three years straight.

KAPPA SIGMA

Kappa Sigma, a living group of very diverse individuals united in brotherhood, has rallied this year around intramurals and a community help project. After winning the university intramural high point trophy for the past two years, the fraternity is looking forward to retiring the trophy permanently by winning it for a third straight year. Indicative of this desire was starting the year off with many bruises and a few broken bones to win the league championship in flag football.

Another activity which has occupied the fraternity this past year has been a project to help maintain the Durham United Fund nursery schools. Friday afternoons found the brothers washing windows, doing yard work, and painting various objects in an effort to make the learning environments a little nicer for some of the young children of the Durham community.

Last year's infamous Morning Party created a tradition at Kappa Sigma for rather "different" social events. This tradition was carried on this fall in the Laundromat Party, which may have soiled our image a bit in the Dean's office but failed to dampen the fraternity's spirit.

After getting one of the best pledge classes on campus last year, all are eagerly awaiting rush this year. With the departure of a large senior class this coming June, a good sized pledge class is a necessity. Nothing, however, will replace the memories that the seniors (Cruncher, O'Whip, Jo-Jo, Fat Grit, Bunny, etc.) leave to Kappa Sigma.

PHI GAMMA TAU

Breaking radically with tradition, Phi Gamma Tau became a local fraternity in 1968 by severing its forty-five year membership in its national organization. The fraternity is now a totally autonomous group, restructured along lines which better suit the individual goals and beliefs of its members.

The fraternity's attention this year was by necessity strongly focused on the establishment of new structures and orientations. This did not, however, divert Phi Gamma Tau from its "traditional" social, athletic, and intellectual diversions. After a riproaring, out-of-image, i.e., gross, beginning, the "frat lodge" settled into the usual balance between books and brew, with occasional week-night outings to the new Drop-in hangout. The emphasis on "jocking it up" increased as Phi Gamma Tau, with the addition of the Stork and the Slinger, was now represented on all major varsity teams. A third-straight Cake Race trophy, a solo loss to the IM football champs and the accession of Leapin' Lou to the B-ball A Team marked a drive to the top in major intramural sports. Only Fast Ed succumbed to the Golden Elixer. And spring found a group of draft-bound seniors throwing off seven semesters of the Duke Grind for one final shot at blowing the image.

The year was definitely one replete with challenges—met for the most part to the satisfaction of all. A new era in fraternity life at Duke had been launched.

PHI KAPPA PSI

The year of the 69ers began quite appropriately for the noble Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi. Though the bar maid foiled Enoch, Wuad Dog did O.K., and as Wild-Ass nervously contemplated the coming day, Verbo and Ralph could chuckle, for no laws stood in their way. Ever dedicated Porno made his well-stocked library available to all and enchanted even the field secretary with his profound remark on an organ without a head. Who knows what monkey business he may get into next?

Meanwhile, the fraternity ran like a well-oiled 1956 Chevy. Under F.E.'s guiding hand and Blackball's cracking whip — a technique perfected after years of experience in padded rooms — the meetings all came off. Alfie rushed the freshmen like a pro, and Dudd did all he could in a valiant, but poorly destined, effort to make the jocks of the Jacqueminot Rose the most feared in all of Dukedom. Baby-Face did little more in the field of intrinsic knowledge though Wild-Ass and Gimp both carried home well-deserved Phi Beta Kappa Keys.

The Class of 69, as always, led the way as Phi Psi upheld her old and honored traditions in the finest way. Our orgies were many and the Fuzz was often quite apparent. The Rites of Spring was no doubt the high point with its erotic trees, and with everyone in sheets, the Four Horsemen felt at ease. Nick, the Chaplain, and Tuber led the way in the race for individual honors with the riskiest maneuver of all, while Gremlin and Boomer measured "things", and the Mexican demonstrated once more his amazing prowess with tequila. But, alas, having performed their final Gator, the Men of 69 must move on. Fortunately, the Mouse remains to guide.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Hank's wedding tided the Pika Seniors over the summer and they quickly regrouped back at the Owl (where else?). Records indicate there have been at least two Pikas at the Owl every night for the last eleven years. Well, Homecoming was first on the agenda. It fizzled as Squire climbed but most of D.U. agreed it was quite a party. How many kegs by 10:00 p.m.? Then Bubba wanted to win a few football games but Jake wouldn't let him. Oh, well, we can't all be jocks. The ZDC further upheld the lager tradition. Who said T.O. could have scored if Mega hadn't been there? MMM showed real quick hands in re-arranging Lust Dog's dental work but lost the title bout to one of the Pinto's helpers. However, a man of action was needed and MMM was elected chief junior achiever. Gross Ernie was in rare form at the retreat and the A.S.M.E. banquet and was rewarded with a two-course dinner at the Gross Xmas Party. T.O. and Stick got their keys and Stick was sure "it was the real thing this time." Mega was elected Aycock House mascot and was elected a member of Playboy's Advisory Board. Willie P. didn't like this but felt better when he got an answering service to handle calls from East. Bucky won the "Graham Hill" award and Goofus won the "hardest working rich kid" award. Mega and Gross Ernie won the "nicest date" award after the rugby party. Burkey was again unanimously appointed resident alcoholic. Most of the Seniors wondered if they were that hurting when they were sophomores. The general concensus was no. Jim's didn't run out so it was indeed a memorable year around the old Pika Section.

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu, 1968-69, much smaller, but much more drawn together. A general realization of what needed to be done and a will to effect those measures which would bring it about. An unprecedented rush. A good start in the fall and a constant effort until Formal Rush. Some financial sacrifice for new furniture, but it's there.

Not only a concensus of priorities, but also a true sense of brotherhood. A rash of new nicknames ring thru the halls — Spook, Cheeks, Rabbit self-designated) but then Ringer, Ragman, Em, Mose.

A share of memorable moments. The Anti-Vinyl Act, the Third Floor Parties (can 20 couples really fit into a single?), the piano plays its last tune for Gamma and so does Vitz's record player. "If anybody says another word, I'm going to hit him." Sherlock Holmes and the Mod Squad, a winning football team, but a rebuilding year for basketball. The alligator makes its appearance at a party. Bad moments and good times shared alike.

Something was a little different this year. Can't quite place it, but it's the something that causes a fraternity to aproach the glorious, mythological ideals of its pledge manuals. What is it? It's a shining white star. It's going to a horseshoe match. It's Hey Jude. This year, call it Sigma Nu.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

After one short year of building, the Sig Eps moved back into Craven Quad last fall, taking it by storm. Having stolen the TEP section, yelled obscenities at the Delta Sigs, and played "Dixie" at 2 a.m. to pacify the KAs, they set two ton trash cans full of homecoming display on fire for encores. From rush to float-building, to the Carolina Hayseed Party, to beach weekend, the Sig Eps never let up.

Steadily climbing in intramurals, led by Mickey and Denis, and in academics, led by no one, the Sig Eps improved in all areas of campus and fraternity life. Whether "walking a mile" for the Homecoming Display trophy, smashing each other in Wallace Wade Stadium's most exciting football battle of the year, carrying books to the new library, or matching wits in Black Literature class, the Sig Eps remained unified in brotherhood.

Whether laughing at the gape of the week, giving La Bra a pink belly, or choking on another of Framer Phil's straight flushes, the Sig Eps held to their goals of improving and becoming a stable element of leadership at Duke.

On the campus scene, Teddy Bear climbed to the top of the IFC, and Paine bulled his way through ASDU (how else?)

Whether looking for Davison at 4 in the morning, wildly opening one of T.H.E. Hulk's underground mail orders, cooking out in the rain, fervently arguing about merits and goals of the fraternity, or screaming "pledge!" at the top of our lungs, the Sig Eps enjoyed a fantastic year. The entire time was filled with great times and great memories, and needless to say, Craven Quad will never be the same.

TAU EPSILON PHI

Tau Epsilon Phi prides itself as a closely knit group of people with a wide scope of interests. In the Delta Upsilon chapter of TEP are members of different economic and social backgrounds, of different races and religions. All are closely tied by our strong bonds of friendship.

Social development is an important part of TEP. The brothers realize the importance of good times as a part of college life. Our social program includes such functions as a champagne open house, a mixer with Longwood College, our Sweetheart Formal, Omar Khayyam, and the campus wide Poker Derby, which TEP sponsors annually.

TEP believes, however, that scholarship is of utmost importance in college life. We have members in Phi Eta Sigma, the Honors Masters Program, Pi Sigma Alpha, and Phi Beta Kappa, and our average is among the highest on campus.

The participation of TEP both at school and in the community has brought pride to the fraternity. We have the business managers of Duke Players and Hoof 'n' Horn, members of the Chronicle Staff, the Publicity Director of WDBS, the captain of the fencing team, as well as members of Student Union and IFC communities — including a chairman. Our service in the community is shown through out help at Lincoln Hospital. Total participation by the brothers in intramurals helped the fraternity to finish in the top quarter among all campus groups in point standings. TEP once again was especially strong in bowling and basketball.

We at TEP feel we have achieved the goals for which a college fraternity is designed. We believe that we have an obligation to live up to our creed: To live in the light of friendship, To walk in the path of chivalry, To serve for the love of service.

ZETA BETA TAU

1968-69 was a new high for ZBT. Chip and Rip were the beer blast leaders for the second year in a row, while Flip and Skip did their thing at the homecoming party. Glad to see Fred and Lila still going strong although Hank and Martha are touch and go and Butch and Jane finally called it quits. On the sports scene the Zebes continued their perennial dominance of the intramural leagues as they went through a tough knee football campaign undefeated. With Sid and Ralph forming a potent scoring combo, ZBT basketball continued the winning tradition. With all of the athletic and academic awards garnered throughout the year, Zebes were proudest of their three nominees for the all mullet team. Once again Che picked up the gamma hutch award for overeating and Slim became Duke's official greeter. Arnie and Red became ZBT's representatives on the quad while the Bulldog came indoors. Greg handled the girls again while Izzie did a great job on the guys. Sam and Lem became big wheels on campus and Leslie took care of the Boston Zebes, Teps, Betas, Delts, etc. Ziggie took the year off but we're looking forward to his return in '69. Most of all, though, ZBT owes a lot to the Horse, Jockey, and Groton for leading us through another great year.

CHI PI KAPPA

—Ogden Nash

"A Day in the Life of a Still-born Fraternity" — opened off-Broadway.

What was advertised as a revolutionary happening, actually comes off as weak imitation of that venerable institution which it professes to satirize. This reviewer attended the play anticipating great audience participation, nudity, and generally candid, outspoken social comment. However, the cast seems more attuned to the life of the fraternity men it is supposed to parody, than to the revolutionary activities this reviewer so anxiously anticipated.

Mr. Zimmerman, prematurely billed as the leading man, Jay Gatsby, appeared only momentarily, subsequently to retire to the position of a recluse. David Burkey, the only known quantity, theatrically, in the play, actually stars as Sal Paradise who quickly supplants Gatsby as the true star of the play. Herein lies the crux of this reviewer's complaint. My. Burkey, nee Paradise, is actually connected with the institution purportedly satirized as is his mentor Mr. Delaney, who plays a fine Dean Moriarity.

Don't get me wrong. The play is without a doubt the most entertaining faire since World War II. The basic ambiguities of the cast do not detract a bit from the fun and games. There is limited audience participation, limited nudity, and much outspoken comment which would appal even a Berkeley free-speecher.

The supporting cast is superb — the mainstay of the production. Mssrs. Leupold and Herbert are beautiful as the humorous drunken ghosts. Mssrs. Kerr, VanderWerf and Westberry are magnificant as the nemesis of the ATO triumvirate, performing unnatural acts. Forgive this blatant listing of supporting actors, but credit is due. Mr. White plays convincingly the frustrated rock poet while Mr. Fallat shines as his grassy guru. Our remaining four actors' roles point up the diversity of the play's scope. Mr. Johnson plays the red planet Mars, Mr. Warren plays a common southeastern green vegetable, Mr. Plowden plays an olympic skier turned pinball champ, and last but not least, Mr. Robinson is perfect as the off-stage voice of moral inspiration.

This reviewer regrets only that the play may have a short run. Pity.

—Walter Kerr

"Fraternity life is more than pins and parties though, more than the image put forth to attract the freshmen. It is a gathering of individuals united by the common experience of pledging. And from this ordeal the rudiments of an intangible relationship called brotherhood emerge. This relationship is the major difference which separates fraternity life from independent life.

"Through the circumstance of living together, of sharing common experiences, individuals within a fraternity become a part of a larger group. Collectively, the individual personalities become a larger personality of the whole. It is in this manner that a fraternity assumes a stereotype. This is not to say that fraternities inhibit individualism . . . "

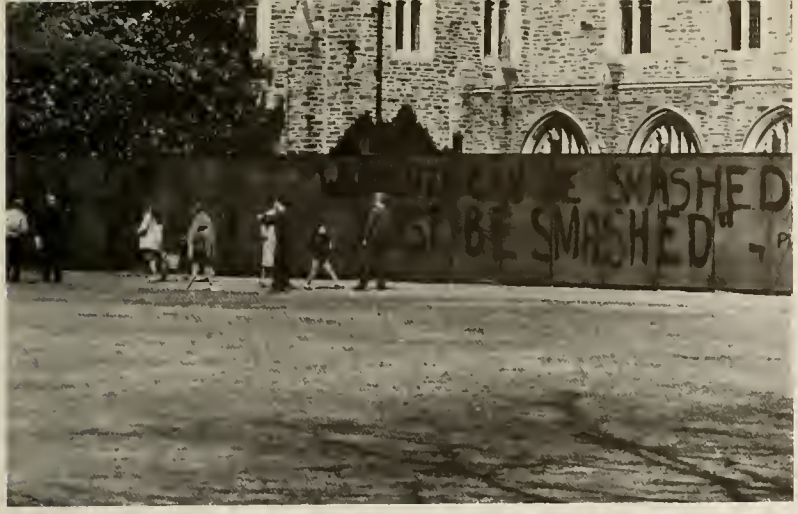
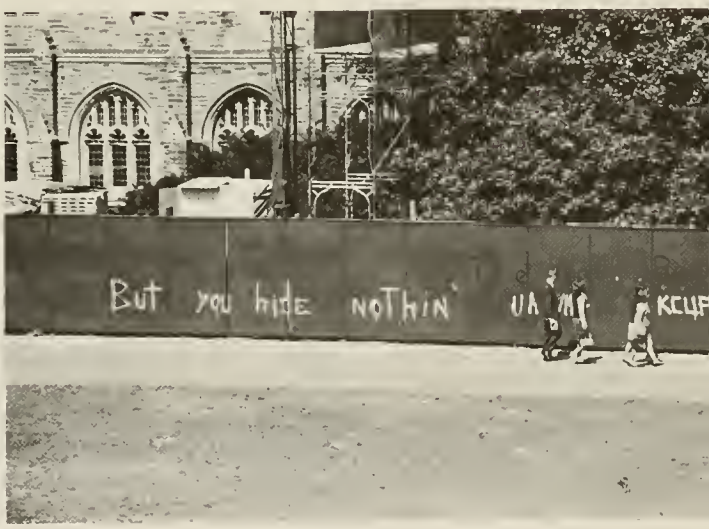
Yogi Gitomer, Business Manager





The 1969 CHANTICLEER was produced by students and non-students of Duke University. In publishing the book, The Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas, using 80-pound stock of paper, employed a special technique to heighten the tonal values of the reproduction. Body type is primarily Times Roman, and headlining is cast in Funk Formal. Ink is Charcoal Black. Secondhand and second-rate cameras were used almost exclusively in producing the photography, and processing was performed in a converted lavatory. With the exception of two sorority group photographs, all photography is on 35mm format. The cover is silk-screened, a two-run high contrast separation from a photograph of one of the Chapel's spires. Screen size on the black and white photographs is one hundred and fifty per inch. All photography is done by individuals under thirty years of age, with the exception of the photograph on page 323, which was taken by Mr. Thad Sparks, the University photographer, who is over thirty years of age.

Photography Staff—Tim Baker, Andrew Berlin, Ned Earle, Mike McQuown, Marybeth Welch. Contributing Photographers—Richard Bate, Bill Boyarsky, Walter Chapin, James Dauphin, Mark Gitomer, Ginny Harrison, Julian Humphreys, Cheri Meinert, Worth Weller, Terry Wolff. Layouts—Thurletta Brown, Valerie Dembrowsky, Marybeth Welch. Sportswriting—Buzz Minor and John French. Copy—Susie Ellis. Honoraries—Betty Steedley. Business Managing—Mark Gitomer. Editing—Larry Funk.

Use of the Stereo Realist camera facilitated by Robert Carney (Duke '67), a graduate student at Texas A and M.

Special thanks to the Duke Naval and Air Force R.O.T.C. contingent, for providing their own photographs and write-ups.

Words—Andrew Berlin: 64, 67, 296. Sharron Bonnie: 103. Cam Cameron 98. Ned Earle 45. Larry Funk 47, 87. Graduate Center Girls 26. Douglas Knight: 54.

"Much has been given us, and much will rightfully be expected from us. We have duties to others and duties to ourselves; and we must behave as beseems a people with such responsibilities."
